Life's Purpose

If you can dream—and not make dreams
your master,
If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with triumph and disaster
And treat those two imposters just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap
for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life
to, broken,
And stoop and build 'em up with worn out tools.

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings—nor lose the common touch;
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt
you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
YOURS is the Earth and everything
that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a MAN, my son!

CERCLE FRANCAIS MEETS TONIGHT

New and Interesting Program
Has Been Arranged

The Cercle Francais meets tonight for the first time this year in the Reading Room of Strathcona Hall at 8 P. M. It is hoped that a large number of former members, together with a number of new members will be present at the opening meeting.

The importance of being able to speak French cannot be over-emphasized; it should therefore be to each one's advantage that he make special efforts to acquire a speaking knowledge of French.

The Cercle gives an excellent opportunity to those who wish to improve their knowledge of that language. This year a departure from the usual procedure will take place with regard to this society in that more attention and more time will be given to informal discussion among the members to encourage facility of conversation.

It is planned to prepare several interesting subjects to be treated by students after which discussions will follow.

The Cercle has been late in getting started this year but from now on meetings will be held at short intervals.

The subject to be discussed to-night is an interesting one for all Canadians. Mr. Hector Daly of the Law Faculty will lecture on "The Advantages of Bilingualism in Canada."

An informal discussion will follow in which all members are allowed to take part.

It is hoped therefore that all students, those who speak the French language together with those who are trying to increase their knowledge of the language especially from the conversational point of view, will make it their aim to belong to this society.

UNION SMOKER TAKES PLACE THIS FRIDAY

Interesting Program Has Been Arranged For

SMOKES PROVIDED

Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing to Figure Prominently

Plans for the new Union House Committee's inaugural smoker are already being materialized. A most interesting programme of boxing, wrestling and fencing has been drawn up and a substantial supply of weeds have been purchased.

In the boxing, Bert Leight of the Pee-Street Club, will tangle mittens with "Lefty" Edelburg our Eastern Star hero, of last year Intercollegiate fame; in the one-three-five class, Bill Brewer will take on Albinovitch of Arts or Mc-Ewen, a provincial champion of no mean ability.

A particularly interesting affair, will be the novices' bout at one hundred and twenty five pounds. There is a certain air of mystery about the dark horses in this, but much fistic action is assured.

Ward and Smeaton, two ex-college champions will favor the crowd with some old time manoeuvres, while Frank Shakell, if his disabled hand is sufficiently healed, may be in the limelight.

The ever present fencing bout, without which no assault at arms is complete, will take place on the same old twelve by two feet, piece of carpet. Monsieur et le Professeur will be close to the foils, so that no touches or points will go unobserved.

In wrestling bouts, Dave McKeen's muscular mat crawlers will uncover the many holds of this ancient art. Geo.
Smith is fast rounding the boys into shape and again will there be on exhibition, the cream of Intercollegiate talent.

The Mandolin clubs orchestra, a new and popular branch of the old club, will be present with a repertoire of jazz music and Red and White songs.

The evening's programme will commence at eight o'clock and every student, particularly the freshmen, are wholly welcome; no charge for admission, but everyone a guest of the Union House Committee.

GOVERNMENT SURVIVED A WILD SESSION

Hall Was Crowded and Many Co-eds Were in Attendance

GREAT EXCITEMENT

Sir Arthur Currie Delivered
Speech from Throne

(Special to the McGill Daily.)
Press Gallery, McGill Union.
Amidst scenes of great excitement unequalled in the history of the McGill Mock Parliament the vote on the speech from the throne was taken at a late hour last night and when the Speaker of the House announced that the Representative Party had carried the motion by a vote of one hundred and ninety-eight to one hundred and seventy-six, the members of the Government and its supporters broke into wild and prolonged paroxysms of applause, which shook the very rafters and girders of the House. The members of the Opposition were, however, not down hearted and when the House meets again in two weeks time another close fight is expected.

The excitement of the opening of the Parliament commenced at an early hour last evening and members from numerous constituencies in all parts of Canada filed one by one into the seats of the Government and the Opposition and long before the hour appointed for the arrival of His Excellency, the Governor General, the seats of the House were filled. That the general public of the McGill electorate is lively interested in the political questions of the hour was forcibly demonstrated, for numerous spectators vigorously sought admission and although the space was taxed to full capacity the urgent throng was at last accommodated to the satisfaction of all. The ever increasing political aspirations of the women of the electorate was another amazing development that could not pass unnoticed at last night's function, for numerous representatives of the fair sex were on hand and eagerly gained entrance to the hall to hear, with evident delight, the lively speakers of the evening and to greedily grasp the intricacies of parliamentary procedure.

The first business of the evening was the appointment of the Speaker for the House and, after the members had taken their seats, the Clerk of the House
P. A. G. Clarke asked that this be done.
It was immediately moved and seconded that Hon. Member from Waterloo, Mr.
John Hackette, K. C., be appointed to this office. The Speaker, having duly taken his seat, then announced that it was the duty of the assembly to receive

A SUGGESTION

Every student has, in the course of the day, a little spare time. There are always odd moments, little nooks and crannies of time, as it were, in which we find ourselves with nothing to do. Of course we need these little rest periods now and again, but if we fritter aimlessly about while we are resting, it often happens that on some occasions a whole hour or even a whole afternoon may pass by in idleness, then we wake up at night time and wonder why we have been such fools as to waste the best part of the day.

One way of keeping ourselves from moving around during our leisure time is to have some interesting book on our tables, which we may pick up and read whenever we have the opportunity. Some may say that we have reading enough in our college courses, but reading for courses is labour, while reading what we wish to read is pleasure. The mere fact of reading a book which we have not got to pass an examination on should be refreshing enough for most of us.

The benefits of forming such a habit as this are two-fold. First, when we rest, we will be refreshed, for it is a fact that often after a period of hopeless idling we feel more tired and more unfit for our work than if we had been engaged in some pleasurable occupation. Again, if we choose our books wisely we will gain much from a cultural standpoint of view, for the thoughts of our greatest and our best men have been embodied in the books which they have written. In other words, we will become more efficient students and as time goes on will gradually acquire a love for reading that will form one of the most pleasant hobbies of our lives. Everyone will find his life greatly enriched by a varied course of reading in which interest, and not compulsion, is the chief incentive.

What shall we read? That, of course, depends on the likes and dislikes of the person concerned. Most of us, in our college courses, have run across books that we should like to read some day, but always our more compulsory work has intervened and we have kept putting off until the time comes when we shall have unlimited leisure. This unlimited leisure idea is of course a mere chimera, and the sooner we cast it off and start to utilize our periods of limited leisure, the better for us. The great majority will prefer to keep works of fiction for their lighter reading, and this is quite right, for in our courses we generally get all the heavy reading necessary. Of novels there are two outstanding classes. The modern, which drive one's blood all into a fever, and those that are not modern, but which we enjoy most when sitting in an easy chair before the fire with the only pipe in the world drawing just right. In the long run, books of the last kind will be found more satisfying. True, they are not generally as exciting as those of the first kind, but they are books that you can read again and again and at every repetition they seem to afford a keener pleasure.

The books in the library are not all confined to dry philosophical treatises and expositions of theories of economics. With all due deference to the important place that these books hold in the curriculum, it is nevertheless a fact that shelf after shelf is filled with the works of novelists, past and present, classical and unclassical. This great wealth of the best literature from all the ages presents to us a golden opportunity. Although we seem to be busy now, most of us are not nearly as busy as we will be later on in life and we should try now to take advantage of our opportunities, and at the same time form a habit that will cling to us through life and that will benefit us inestimably.

SYRACUSE FORM PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

Syracuse University will seek to schedule both the University of Michigan and Penn. State eleven for its 22 football chart, it became known today. McGill University of Montreal, which clashed with the Orange this fall in the first international football battle in many years, will probably be dropped from the Syracuse card to make way for Michigan or Penn. State. Lafayette University also is a probability for the next year's Syracuse football chart.

Syracuse University Alumni are anxious for the resumption of athletic relations with Michigan and are prepared to support the game whether played in Ann Arbor or this city. It also is understood that negotiations with Penn. State are already under way.

The Orange management it is reported does not intend to renew its contract with McGill as whether conditions in Montreal in early November are decidedly bad. It is pointed out on the other hand, Syracuse does not believe that a McGill game staged here would be a paying investment financially.

A new comer to Orange schedules, in recent years at least, will be booked in place of McGill. Penn. State and Michigan, or both for the first and second Saturdays in November, are the popular choices of the Alumni.

There is a decided demand among the Alumni that the Colgate game next year be scheduled as the last game of the season as has been the custom in former years.

As a climax to Syracuse football cards, Colgate always has proved a big drawing card, and undoubtedly always will.

PEPYS AT MCGILL

Tuesday, Nov. 15.—This evening to the Parliament House in the Union, where were a great concourse of student-members assembled and they chiefly radicals, which was a sorry sight indeed for a good King's man. After a deal of shuffling there came in the King's Governor and his escort, all nobly decked out in their military trappings, and he then read his royal speech in a most solemn manner to his loyal Commons. Then quite a young lad who faltered somewhat in his moving of the address, and blushed prettily to the joy of the women-students in the Mr. Speaker's gallery. After him there rose up quite a little fellow in a sort of green coat who discoursed with much eloquence in the French tongue, and very well received he was by both parties. After that a deal of language upon whether the heathen yellow man out of Cathay should be allowed to set foot upon our shores, and after divers machinations of the Opposition the motion upheld.

GOV'T SURVIVED A WILD SESSION

a message from the representative of His Majesty the King and, in an intense silence of anticipation, all present awaited the advent of His Excellency, the Governor-General, Sir Arthur Currie. The wide doors of the hall were suddenly flung open; the Sergeant at Arms, T. R. Taschereau, entered the room and while the amassed audience rose to their feet, the Governor General and his retinue entered the hall. A hush fell over the gathering; His Excellency's body guard, comprised of ten officers of His Majesty's army, formed two lines, through which His Excellency passed on his way to the Throne. He was attended by two pages and was immediately preceded by the Premier, F. O. Peterson and the Leader of the Opposition, Roy Dillan, who took their places in front of their respective parties.

With every person in the hall standing at a respectful silence, the Governor General, clothed in his gorgeous robes of office, proceeded to the Throne and after saluting the respective parties took his seat and read the following speech, which was listened to with the greatest of interest by all his hearers:

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:—The People of Canada stand this day upon the threshold of a new era. The events of the coming year bid fair to overshadow, in the light of future consequences the momentous happenings of the recent past. A few days gone by an Empire stood in reverent silence to honour the memory of those who shed their life-blood that she might not pass away, and whose indomitable spirit must be your inspiration and your guide.

The greatest University in this Dominion recently celebrated the hundredth anniversary of its foundation, an event which we may regard as a milestone in the history of our cultural development. And now, in the City of Washington, the delegates of the great nations of the Civilized World are come together to determine how war may best be ended forever, and in the Royal Victoria College the enlightened seek a new system of initiation.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:—I solemnly charge you to weigh carefully the vital issues, which these impending problems bear within themselves. It is expected that the recent decennial census will show a considerable increase in the population of this Dominion, but the problem of how this may be still further increased should demand your immediate attention. It is highly desirable that immigration of the better classes be encouraged, but it is not desirable that nationals of the yellow races, or illiterate or unskilled persons of European stock be permitted to establish themselves in Canada.

Other matters of a social nature must also claim your attention, and higher ideals of morality and culture must replace what tends to be an ill-advised prudishness and a sentimental dogmatism. To this end much time and thought might well be devoted to the problems of Education.

In order that Canada may take full advantage of her new position among the great commercial nations of the World her industrial organization must be perfected. An immediate settlement of the question of the national ownership of Railways and of the Mercantile Marine must be sought, and it may be found necessary to devote considerable sums of money to the improvement of the St. Lawrence waterways and of the seaports of this Dominion.

Insurance must be provided for the welfare of both the labourer and the manufacturer. With this in view, you will be asked to approve the appointment of two national commissions; one to provide a working-scheme for the insurance of labour against old-age, sickness and unemployment; the other, to regulate the tariff for the protection of the industries of this nation.

These measures will require the expenditure of large amounts of the public monies, and I charge you not to forget that the sum of at least four dollars and fifty cents in the currency of the realm must be set aside for the purchase of a beautiful book, the same to be presented to the Royal Victoria College, inscribed with the crest band motto of the College, and bearing on its fly-leaf the names and coats-of-arms of the founders and benefactors of McGill University and the portraits of the Right Honourable the Prime Minister and the Honourable the Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons: That future generations of Canadian citizens may bless the memory of this Legislature, that the spirit which inspired the Fathers of Confederation may inspire you, that Canada may take her rightful place in the Councils of the Nations, that this great Country may become the home of peace and justice, of prosperity and culture, may your deliberations be sound and sober, and may God's help be with you.

PARLIAMENTARY DEBATES

The Speaker then expressed his great satisfaction at the honor conferred upon him. He called the attention of the House to Article 472 of the Rules of the House, that it is out of order for a gentleman in the House to smoke until the permission of the lady members was obtained. Another rule was brought to the attention of the House, Rule 17 that it was competent for any member in the House to move after ten minutes speech (except of the prime minister and leader of the opposition.) "That this harangue do herewith cease." The Speaker further, expressed his hopes that the deliberation of the evening be characterized by sobriety of thoughts etc.

Patterson the representative from South Wellington moved for the first time, a bill for the appropriation of augmentation of armories sufficient for military uses. This motion was seconded by Reed.

W. Allen in reply to the speech from the throne spoke of the great sacrifice of the Canadian men who won the war. In the course of his remarks, he referred to the many evils which had to be removed. Having shown the necessity for the abolition of moving picture censorship, and referring to the work of the Merchant Marine he moved a vote of thanks to the Governor General for his speech from the throne.

D. Cowan, the member from Wellington seconded this vote of thanks and adoption of the bill, speaking very fluently in French much to the admiration of all the House.

Dillon the member of North York, leader of the opposition pointed out many flaws in the platform of the government, placing emphasis on the restriction on foreign immigration, chiefly those from China and Japan. He noted that the Merchant Marine was adopted for war purposes, and now that the war was over this too should end. The leader of the opposition emphasized with great gusto that the government had no tariff policy, if so it had come into power without stating its platform. Reference was made to the St. Lawrence River project, with suggestions that the opposition could offer a concrete scheme which would enable the country to avoid a great loss, also that Portneuf would make an admirable terminus for grain export.

Peterson, the Hon. Premier for the Government and member from Portage La Prairie, opened his speech by saying that the immigration policy of the government was the foremost question and that it would be put before the House for a vote. The Premier waxed eloquent on this point when he stated "We are not afraid of foreign nations; we are not afraid of the Washington Conference and their decisions on this issue. We cannot allow ourselves to be intimidated by the Royal Victoria College. We do not wait another 'Nigger Problem.' We act with the best interests of Canada always at heart."

On the question of censorship of moving pictures the premier showed the proximity between moving pictures and education.

The Minister of Marine was not present, he stated, owing to ill-health, but would be present to answer on a further date.

Gordon Reed, Minister of Immigration for the govt., representative from Temiskaming was the next speaker. He said that the government was not legislating against the Yellow Race but was putting Canadians first in their consideration. The opposition, he said, would flood the country with illiterate unskilled labor. Though interrupted by the member from Maisonneuve for reading his speech the House ruled that reading of quotations was permissible. Acting upon this ruling, the member from Temiskaming read a quotation from Prof. Leacock, supporting his argument.

G. R. Troop, from Thunder Bay, a member of the government, then took his stand on the labor question. He took as his authority, and reason a quotation from the Labor Conference resolution passed at Winnipeg, August last, which objected to Oriental immigration (therefore labor) as ruinous to Canadian labor interests.

He quoted also from the Quebec Catholic Trade Union, which suggested that there be no immigration for two years. The speaker then remarked that all are in favor of giving capital a square deal, therefore do the same for labor. There is an Anti-Dumping Act prohibiting overflow of cheaply manufactured goods being dumped on Canadian markets when Canadian capitalists cannot agree. Therefore, he argued, that protection should be given to the unskilled laborers in Canada against cheap Oriental labor.

Senecal played a large part in the voicing the Opposition's views. He was the first member of that party to attempt to refute any of the Government's offensive declarations. "The mines are not popular work places for our Canadian citizens. The toils are tedious and yet to the oriental are insignificant." He appreciated the patriotic view of the ruling side regarding the unemployment situation but he desired to make clear the fact that the present conditions are not characteristic of the Dominion and that in a short time the prevailing circumstances will be matters of the past. Therefore we must look to the future, lay the foundations for days when this country will be stepping forward. With regard to the attitude of the Washington Conference now in progress, Senecal made it clear that the Opposition were not afraid of the results of that body of statesmen; nor was it a case of yielding to the wishes of foreign nations solely, but that at the present critical period when the results of the world's future career were at stake that the Canadians should not pass such a hostile bill that would forbid the entrance of all orientals and thus create unpleasant connections with Japanese and Chinese as well as many other races.

The strain of debate was nicely followed up by Reed a staunch supporter of the premier; but the house was quickly given an excellent opportunity to air its humorous feelings. Reed was tripped up and his speech cut short by the speaker on a matter of order.

O'Brien was the champion member of the "Dillon Clan" to catch the drowsy men adherents of the "sons of Peterson" when they wandered into irrelevant ways; made well of the opportunity to get a few jabs at the cabinet's opinions on immigration. This worthy politician from the Maisonneuve constituency referred to the past in opening his address. "Canada has not shut out the Yellow Race in the past, we should not take exception to their policy especially at such an epoch-making stage when armament conventions are afoot." This Quebec leader advocated constructive measures. Let these people be admitted to our country, to the mines, to the forests and laboring districts, but don't allow them to buy property, keep them in check and thus get around the unpleasant factors which create the so-called "Yellow Peril." If such a move were adopted Canada would foster the co-operating element now awakening between England and Japan and yet would retain the favour of the other nations as well.

Peterson, upon hearing these weighty counsels of an honorable member of the Opposition could not retain his passions and ably spoke his mind; in fact, so candid was his second speech that the Opposition found an opportunity to supply the R.V. Cettes with a laugh which Si would explain "a hum dinger."

H. O'Hagan, the honourable member from Victoria, had some very interesting facts at his finger-tips which certainly showed holes in nearly every line of argument of the opposing sect. He said that Japs are not merely content to act as servants to the White Race, and that they even are conspicuous in western Canada for their enthusiasm in every phase of commercial life. Chinese are in possession of 350,000 acres of land in British Columbia alone and in every branch whether in market-gardening, wholesale distributing houses, fruit vendors, they are forging ahead as in the mine and lumber camps. The city of Vancouver has 15,000 inhabitants from Asia. If these people be not stopped in quick style then Canadian authorities and Canadian citizens in general will be up against a very stiff problem. O'Hagan in closing told a truth, and one that is often overlooked. The Jap and his fellow countrymen from the east becomes very independent as the increases in wealth. He will not be put in a back corner and has evidently big aims when he aids his compatriot to enter Canada and fixes his home and family here.

O'Heir, another "Dillonite" from Frontenac, was up against a tough proposition to refute any of his predecessor's thoughts. Nevertheless he found some. He hit on the subject of Restriction.

McKeene started to push the cause of the government but was held up on a humorous point of order which prevented the session getting too serious. McKeene was subject to the ruling of the speaker that speeches be for three minutes only after 10 p.m. During the three odd minutes he contributed several good knocks at the opposition yet using witty and jocular lines. Canadians can work in mines, Science grads work there therefore the miners are a good lot or McGill science grads work in bad places. Dillon put the sum of his party's arguments to a close in fitting words. "We want British colonists but they are not sufficient, we want cheap labour—also to help construction."

Although he would like to see these Asiatics yet they must be restricted. The certain limit must be allowed and no more in each province.

The hour for the closing of the first Mock Parliament came only too soon. The closing minutes provided some very exciting incidents such as when High School boys were reported to be present in the Opposition's ranks. However true the fact may be yet it was not proved.

The question was eventually put before the student politicians with the result that the Government obtained 198 votes and the Opposition 165.

YANKS WILL HOLD AN ANNUAL DINNER

American Club Will Celebrate Thanksgiving Day on 24th

'Twas a sad time, indeed, for the turkey last night! The Yankies settled the various details concerning the "get-together", in the form of a dinner, held annually by the club, on the American Thanksgiving day, the last Thursday in November. In the States Thanksgiving Day is universally observed and is considered one of the important holidays. All institutions of learning declare a holiday from Wednesday evening until the following Monday morning, during which time many students return to their homes to offer up their thanks and incidentally to make merry. Some of the eastern colleges wind up their football seasons on this holiday and a number of great matches take place, most important of which is, perhaps, the traditional Penn-Cornell game.

For a number of years the Americans at McGill have celebrated Thanksgiving by a dinner at one of the leading hotels and this year, on November 24th, the men from below the border will follow up the ancient custom. The scene of the festivities will be the Queen's Hotel.

"Norm" Livshin, of football fame, presided over the meeting last night at the Union, and when he called for suggestions for the dinner was favored with a cheerful response. One of the proposals, which the president heartily endorsed, was the procuring of some theatrical talent to provide entertainment for the occasion. Just

CORRESPONDENCE

Montreal, November 15, 1921.

The Editor,

McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,

I wish to correct a statement which I made in my letter of yesterday.

I stated that I had received no answer to my application from Mr. Copeland, and that I had learnt from unofficial sources etc., etc.

When I made this assertion I made it under the impression that the intimation I had received was unofficial. This I find was not so, and so I desire to correct my letter.

I feel that I have put Mr. Copeland in rather a false position by my letter and I wish to apologize to him for doing so.

Hoping that this will correct any misunderstanding that may have arisen from my letter,

Yours very truly,

George Marler,

Law '22.

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir.—We fear that certain letters which have recently appeared in the Daily have created an entirely wrong impression of the R.V.C. These letters, far from being the general opinion of the co-eds, are to be considered the private viewpoint of a few fanatic individuals only.

We, as sophomores, feel that "Sophette" has taken it upon herself to express her own somewhat peculiar views as those of the whole R.V.C. It is only natural in the "silence" of the library for a bored student to look up and absent-mindedly watch any movement that is going on. If "Sophette" takes it as a tribute to her charms, very well. But why announce it to the world?

As regards "K.P." and Initiation, enough has been said. Being Sophs, and having partaken with gusto in those mystic and undignified rites which recently caused such splutterings of ink, we can only smile.

The R.V.C. undergrads are not a "body of women students" pacing in the cloistered halls with their august noses buried in weighty volumes. The co-eds are just a bunch of girls who like a good snappy football or hockey match, or dance, as well as anybody. It is for knowledge alone that a few studious souls come to college, but a large number come to do the other thing as well.

Some pretty ones, some plain ones; some silly ones, some clever ones; some with a sense of humor and some without; but, with surprisingly few exceptions, all good sports.—This is the R.V.C.

"Some Sophs from R.V.C."

"Great nuts from little freshmen grow." —J. K. M.

as this matter was under discussion a black cat ran across the room and leaped upon Liv's lap. The husky Syracusan, however, refused to take this as an ill omen and decided, that the presence of musical talent at the dinner was advisable.

A committee was appointed of men in the different faculties to look after the disposition of tickets among the various Americans throughout McGill. A large attendance is looked for on the 24th, and those in charge of the event promise that after the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" those in attendance will be ready to acknowledge that the affair was the "best ever." The men looking after the distribution of the tickets are Rosenfield, chairman; Tinker, Redel, Hooper, Hayes and Goren.

SCIENCE AND MED. IN FINAL RUGBY MATCH

Inter-Faculty Championship at Stake

FOR WOOD CUP

Both Teams Undefeated—Science Not Scored on This Season

Captain "Dave" Williamson, ran the undefeated Science football team out on the snow-covered Stadium yesterday afternoon, for the final practice before the game this afternoon with the team representing the Medical faculty. Today's contest will decide the championship of the league, which is just completing the most successful season in the history of interfaculty athletic competition at McGill. The undergraduates of the various departments supported their respective teams in an admirable manner and afforded the means for the twelve to adopt uniform outfits. The teams were well trained for their league games and in consequence the competition proved very keen. Never before were such crowds attracted by interfaculty rugby and rarely has such enthusiasm been displayed as was in evidence this year on the campus.

Both teams are in excellent condition and are anxious to break the existing tie. Meds and Science have each defeated the teams of Arts-Law and Commerce and the first game between today's rivals resulted in a scoreless tie.

A glance at the record made this season by both teams shows the Engineers to have the edge; they have not been scored on in the entire series, overcoming the Commerce outfit by the score of 14-0 and sending the Arts-Law team down to a 23-0 defeat. The "Meds" twelve have also two victories to their credit, but they experienced a little more difficulty than the Science team in vanquishing their opponents. Commerce was nosed out in the final minutes of play, score 7-6 and Arts-Law fell victim to the attack of the embryo physicians, score 12-5.

The men of Science have been practicing faithfully and have developed a smooth teamwork rarely seen outside of intercollegiate competition. Medicine has a well balanced team and feel confident of their ability to break the opponents' streak.

The kick-off will take place at 2.30 on the Old Campus. The snow will be cleared off the field of play and while the ground will not be very fast it should be in fair condition for the match. Besides the "Wood Cup" there will be an added impetus to the players to show their best. It has been agreed that the losing team will entertain the champions at a dinner sometime after the game and both teams may be relied upon to show signs of hunger by their style of play.

The officials of the game will be adequately looked after by "Flin" Flanagan and Wallace. The probable line-ups are as follows:

| Science                                                                                                             | Medicine         |

McGILL WATER POLO MEN TO PLAY TONIGHT

Seniors and Intermediates vs. M. S. C.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

Rooters Wanted in Large Numbers to Cheer for McGill

The McGill water poloists clash with the M. S. C. men tonight at 8.15 p.m., in the tank at the Central Y. M. C. A. Both the Seniors and Intermediates of the two clubs are playing and the games are expected to be close and exciting.

The McGill Intermediates versus the M. S. C. Intermediates will be the first event of the evening and these two teams will in all probability provide a lively match. The McGill men have been going strong lately and a win tonight will put them well on the championship road. Last Wednesday the Intermediates managed to down the M. A. A. men after a hard struggle but it is expected that they will have to go the limit to secure a win against the M. S. C. The McGill team will line up with McKinsey in goal; Fosyth and Anson on the defense; Ross centre and Munro and Vickerson, forwards.

The game will be a hard fought one as the M. S. C. present a formidable line up of players but with the Stone-wall defense of Foss and Laidley the unrivalled speed of Vernot at centre, the shooting of Fisk and the steadiness of Parsons, McGill team will be well able to give a good account of itself.

The Senior teams will clash immediately after the Intermediates have finished and although the M. S. C. men have already registered one win against McGill, a keenly contested game is looked for and all the McGill supporters are looking for a win. This is the crucial game for the college men, for a win will keep them in the running while a defeat will eliminate their chances for the championship. The McGill poloists have been travelling at a fast pace and have gained a good deal of confidence after the win from the M. A. A. A. They had a keen work-out yesterday afternoon against the Intermediates and will be going at top speed tonight.

A big crowd is needed for this important event and it is an assured fact that the M. S. C. supporters will be on hand in large numbers. The McGill supporters did not make a wonderful showing at the last game but it is hoped that the leather-lunged rooters will be all there to give their support to the men who are battling for old McGill. A general admission of fifty cents in being charged and reserved seats may also be had for seventy-five cents. These may be had at the Union but all the general admission tickets are to be purchased at the Y. M. C. A.

ARTS '25 LOSE BALL GAME TO ARTS '22

Hall and Pierce Feature for the Victors

Arts '22 were victors over Arts '25 in a good game of indoor ball at the High School last night. The freshmen went to bat first and in the initial frame succeeded in tallying 3 runs to the Juniors' two. In their half of the second inning the Juniors pulled ahead and from then the outcome of the game was never in doubt.

The pitching by Gaboury for the winners and by McPhail for the freshmen was very good and only one man was walked during the game. Gaboury had better support and was steadier than his opponent. A feature of the game was the batting of Bob Hall who knocked two home runs. Pierce played a fine game at 1st base for Arts '22, and batted well also.

Following is the line-up:
Arts '22                      Arts '25
Pitcher                      McPhail
Gaboury (Capt.)                      Catcher
Avvison                      Bronson

A young aristocrat, electing to spend his holidays on a sardine boat, contracted rheumatism, and on arrival in Brest Roads was unable to land. Moreover, some days elapsed before a doctor boarded the steamer. His interview with the patient terminated in hearty laughter.

"Whatever made you signal that you'd a case of small-pox aboard?" he asked the skipper.

"Because nobody on this boat could spell rheumatism," replied the old salt.

GYM CLASS HOLDS FIRST PRACTICE

Prospects Are Bright for Coming Season

The initial practice of the Gymnasium Club was held last night at 6 o'clock in the gymnasium of Montreal High School, and for the future will take place every Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday at the same time and place. At least four of last years' intercollegiate teams of five are turning out again this year, and in addition some good new material is on hand. Last year the intercollegiate gymnasium tournament was won by Toronto, and the championship was won by Varsity. The contest will probably take place here this year, and its date will in all likelihood be towards the end of March. If the promise that the first meeting has held out is fulfilled during the coming season, the result of the championship tournament, we may reasonably hope, will be reversed. The work of the squad consists entirely of apparatus work, and attention will be mainly concentrated on the parallel bars, horse, mats and high-bar, upon each of which each man is to do four exercises at the final tournament. Holland, Delahay, Scott, and Consiglio from last years' team are out again this season, and Coach Van Wagner expressed satisfaction at the brightness of our prospects.

So all come and hear them expressed and get as well some new views on the subject. Today, at 3 o'clock in the common room of the R. V. C.

BUMPER YEAR FOR SKI CLUB IS ASSURED

Seven Colleges Now Form Ski Association

TWO SKI MEETS

Ski Club Meeting Thursday Afternoon at 5 P.M.

There will be two Intercollegiate Ski Meets this year. The first will be in the first week of Feb., at Dartmouth and the second a week or two later at McGill. Neither dates have been definitely settled yet. It is expected that two more American Colleges will enter the Ski Association this year one of them being Colgate University. This will make seven in all.

The Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Association which was formed last spring will meet at an early date to draw up a set of temporary rules to govern the meets this year. If these rules prove satisfactory they will be made permanent and thus the various events will be standardized. The following events will in all probability be those used at all the future meets:—Jumping, Cross country-running, Proficiency, Dash, Relay Race, Snowshoe Dash and Snowshoe cross country.

In yesterday's "Daily" it was stated that competitors would be divided up into three classes A, B and C for each of the following events: Jumping, Cross Country and Proficiency. The details are as follows.

JUMPING AND CROSS COUNTRY.

Class C.—Any member is eligible to compete in this class who has never won a first or second place in this or any higher class. Winners of first and second place in this class advance to B class.

Class B.—Any member is eligible to compete in this class who has never won a first place in this or any higher class. Winners in this class advance to A class.

Class A.—Any member is eligible to compete in this class.

PROFICIENCY.

Class C.—Any one who has not done a right and left turn (Tellemark or Christie) to the satisfaction of the judges. (In these the judges will be guided by certain general rules which follow later.)

Class B.—Any one who has done a right and left turn but who has not a right and left Christie and Tellemark (from turns) to the satisfaction of the judges.

Class A.—Any one who has done a right and left Tellemark and Christie to the judges' satisfaction.

In general a satisfactory turn must satisfy the following:

(1). The skier must come to a stop within a reasonable distance after the turn was started.

(2). The skier must not have touched the ground with any part of his body or arms.

(3). The skier must not carry poles during turns.

(4). More than one attempt at a turn may be made at the judges' discretion.

To-morrow the first of a series of articles on skiing will appear in the Daily. They will deal with: skis, ski boots; clothing, care of skis and instructions on the various turns. These articles are being written by the executive in consultation with various authorities on the subject and while not intended as hard and fast rules should aid the beginner.

The first General Meeting will be held in the Main Hall, Strathcona Hall at 5 P. M. Thursday afternoon. A large attendance is requested.

Crerar

The head of a great trading organization which unites its trading with its politics—a political theorist—has lost control of the political movement he started and is being driven into impossible positions by class rule extremists. He is under the domination of Wood, the political boss of Alberta. He would give effect to Free Trade, thus destroying Canada's industrial and economic structure.

A Vote for Crerar is a Vote for Chaos

King

So evasive that nobody knows where he actually stands on the great issues of the day. Fits his policy to suit his audiences. Talks Free Trade to the West and Protection to the East. Specializes in high-sounding phraseology. His party is pledged to a large measure of Free Trade, but fails to suggest new methods of obtaining necessary National Revenues.

A Vote for King is a Plunge in the Dark

Meighen

Easily the outstanding figure in Canadian public life today, and the only real Leader in sight. Able, forceful, courageous, and upright in character. A statesman of demonstrated ability with broad National and Imperial vision and an unassailable record. Stands firm for the maintenance of a reasonable Protective Tariff, and aims to provide the maximum amount of profitable labour for all.

GOOD MEETING HELD AT R.V.C.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne Addresses Large Audience of Women Students

A large and very representative audience of all women students of McGill University heard the Hon. C. C. Ballantyne in the Common Room of the R. V. C. yesterday afternoon, when he put forth the policy of his leader and his party in a very clear and forcible manner. It is somewhat different to get beyond the usual type of electioneering speech which, as a rule, both parties resort to at this stage of the game. However, both Mr. Marler and the Hon. Mr. Ballantyne, in addressing this audience gave what we most desired to know, namely straight facts backed up by sound opinions. Mr. Ballantyne, in his address, spoke so comprehensively that questions which many listeners had especially intended to put to the speaker, were answered in advance.

Regarding the Tariff question, the speaker dwelt upon the necessity of a moderate protective policy for the benefit of Canada's diversified interests and as a means of increasing the revenue. He drew attention to the success of the protective policy followed by the United States now one of the greatest industrial powers in the world.

In dealing briefly with the subject of Canada's Mercantile Marine, the speaker pointed out that, contrary to the statements of the Opposing Party, this government enterprise showed a profit and not a deficit; and moreover that in the present case of unavoidable depreciation in value of ships, the government was prepared to look after them as would any other group of financiers.

According to the Hon. Mr. Ballantyne the public ownership of railway was the direct wish of the majority of the people's representatives in parliament. Also the present railway situation under this system was largely the result of the former Laurier-Fleming policy before 1912, when railway constructions were undertaken in districts where they were almost twenty and thirty years ahead of the time.

At the close of his address, Mr. Ballantyne answered the questions put to him in a very definite and decisive manner. Altogether his address was instructive and to the point, and all who heard it are most grateful to Mr. Ballantyne for coming to give us the side of the party and the leader which he supports.

THE TRYST

As I entered Bob Carlton's apartment I was met by a breeze so much more chill than the storm outside that it fairly took my breath away, but piqued me a bit. You see, I had paid seven dollars a quart for that breath. Bob was ensconced in his usual easy chair, but was surrounded by electric fans and many large cakes of ice. Across the table was flung a heavy, hooded, asbestos cape. I was accustomed to accoutrements in Bob, but this was too much.

Ignoring my short tempered question concerning his surroundings, he launched forth upon one of his usual fantastic tales.

"You remember Jean Roue, don't you, Hal?" I nodded. "Well, he and I had an agreement. We swore by all that's holy, and much that isn't, to keep this pact. Whoever should die first would return and inform the other of the future life. As you are interested in psychic research, I thought this little incident would appeal to you."

"Oh! It does, of course, Bob, but why this abominable array of heat-killers?"

"What, these? Oh! nothing much, except that Jean died at four o'clock this morning!"

A colored man had been gazing thoughtfully over the rail of the ocean liner for twenty minutes. A passenger who had gone below decks, curious at the cause of such concentration demanded: "What you thinking about, Sam?"

"Bout de ocean, boss," came the reply. "Dat's de, fust time in all mah life I ever see somethin' dare was enough oi."

Don't turn out the light. You ought to see how she enjoys it!

Otto Klineberg, M.A. Details of subject and place of meeting to be announced later.

SKI CLUB

Campbell Cope will take the attendance of ski-ers at the Lookout at 3 o'clock this afternoon. All out.

INDOOR BASEBALL

Kent, Dent, '23-Sci, '24 will be glad to place a team in the Indoor Baseball League. Would you kindly let me have the schedule for the games. Either have them published in the Daily or send to Logan, Sci, '24.

The following men from Medicine are asked to be at the Old Campus at 2.30 p.m. for the game with Science: Granick, Boyle, Chisholm, Kent, Roache, Lynch, McDonald, Fullerton, Shurman, Sloan, Abey, Chalmers, Mathews, Parlow, Laishley, Gomeroy, McIntosh, Caldwell, Hamilton, Walker.

An organization meeting of the Pharmaceutical Society will be held on Monday night in the New Medical Building at 8:15 sharp.

EXECUTIVES ATHLETIC ASSN. HELD MEETING

I.B.A. be considered, was presented to the meeting. The executive decided that the matter should be placed before the B.A.W. & F., and that an expression of their opinion be presented at the next meeting of the Athletic Association.

A request from Queen's University soccer club that McGill enter a team in an Intercollegiate Soccer League was discussed by the meeting. At a meeting called for the purpose of discussing this question a few weeks ago only two were present, so that the executive felt that interest shown did not warrant action on the part of the association to form a team.

It was decided however to call a special meeting of soccer enthusiasts in order to determine the attitude of the student body towards this question. Notice of this meeting will appear elsewhere in the Daily.

An application from the Macdonald College Hockey Club for admission to the Inter-faculty hockey league was favorably received, and placed in the hands of the hockey club.
